TWO CENTS

VOTE "YES" FOR THE BOND ISSUE AND BETTER HIGHWAYS

CAMPAIGN CLOSES THIS EVENING WITH MEETING AT MONONGAHELA

Big Turnout Expected In Adjoining Town, to Hear Measure Discussed

MUST GET GOOD ROADS NOW

The campaign for the approval of the proposed bond issue in Washington county will end this evening with meetings in Monongahela and at "Dunns Station." It is expected that quite a number of Charleroi boosters will attend the Monongahela meeting this evening, which will be addressed by Harry R. Campbell, chief clerk to the county commissioners.

Interest in the bond campaign during the past few days has been rapidly increasing; and those who are promoting the campaign in favor of the bonds believe that public sentiment will be favorable to the issue. Much encouragement has been given to the boosters by the letter of Governor Sprout, which appeared in the county papers on Saturday last, and which was so outspoken in favor of the bond issue.

Good roads advocates in Washington county realize that unless advantage is taken of the generous offer of the state in the way of road building at this time, our county will make no headway for a generation to come. The state is willing to help, but the county must be willing to assist. Otherwise the road building program in Washington county will be a negligible factor for years to come. The attacks which have been made on the bond issue proposition seems to have been more of a boomerang than anything else. The misstatements made in the cards sent out last week by what is termed the good roads anti-bond association have determined many people to support the proposition and they will turn out tomorrow to vote for it.

Some further attacks are expected from this anti-bond association, which seems to have been organized for this occasion only, and which will cease to exist after tomorrow.

Members of the automobile club of the county as well as all other progressive citizens however are lining up for the measure, and those directly in touch with affairs are confident that the voters of the county will approve of the issue. If this should prove to be the case the State will at once start engineer corps in getting out the necessary data in order to allow contractors to make the necessary bids for construction.

The usual boards of election will conduct the election tomorrow the polls being open at the usual places from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. No matter how large the vote the result will be known shortly after the polls close, as it will not take boards long to vote "Yes" on the bond issue.

DISTRICT MEETING OF EPWORTH LEAGUE

The annual convention of the Washington District Epworth League will be held at California, June 18, 19 and 20. Good programs have been arranged for all sessions. The local Chapter has arranged for a business meeting to be held Tuesday evening, at which time all Leagues are requested to be present. Delegates to the convention will be elected and other important business transacted.

ROBBERS ENTER SHAFFLER'S STORE

The clothes cleaning establishment of F. Shaffler at the corner of Fallowfield avenue and Fifth street, in the Berryman building, was robbed some time during Sunday night, and a number of suits of clothes belonging to customers as well as to Mr. Shaffler were taken.

Mr. Shaffler discovered that something was wrong at his store this morning when he came to open up. One of the windows was raised and he found the door unlocked. On going inside he found that at least ten suits of clothes, many of them belonging to customers, had been stolen during the night, as well as an overcoat. How the thieves gained admission is not evident, as neither windows or doors were broken. Whether they got in by means of a skeleton key or otherwise is a matter of conjecture.

Mr. Shaffler believes he has a clue to the robbers, but whether it will prove a correct one is hard to determine at the present time. However, two men visited the store last week to have clothes cleaned and who acted in a very suspicious manner. If these men can be located it is believed they could tell something about the robbery. Mr. Shaffler estimates his loss at about $400.

Hospital Auxiliary Meeting Miss Montana of the Charleroi-Monessen hospital, has requested a meeting of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary, to meet at the hospital, Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. B. E. Sloan, president of the Auxiliary, requests all members to be in attendance.

make the necessary count. By 9 o'clock at the latest enough of the county should be heard from to give definite information as to the result. All the boroughs and towns will be known before 8 o'clock, while distant townships will be somewhat later in making their returns. However, progressive citizens who want permanent good roads should make the necessary count.

Road Program Depends on Favorable Vote For Bonds

Tomorrow the voters of Washington county will pass upon the proposal to approve or reject the proposition to increase the indebtedness of the county in the sum of $1,000,000 for the purpose of building state highways to complete its own highway system with the primary roads planned by the state.

It is the opinion of men who have made good roads a study that there never was a time in the history of the county when so important an issue involving its future prosperity and commercial development has been before the voters as that which they will be called upon to decide at the ballot box tomorrow.

As a matter of fact if the voters of Washington county fail to approve of this indebtedness the county will not only take a backward step but the road building program affecting every section of the county will be so seriously interfered with that little if any real constructive work will be accomplished in the next four years—the period when the state is planning to carry through its large and comprehensive program. Washington county has learned

GOOD ROADS WOULD BE A PREVENTIVE

Jack Barrass, the Dunlevy contractor, had a narrow escape from death Friday morning last, when his Ford truck turned turtle on the highway between Stockdale and Allentown. Fortunately for him he is only nursing some minor injuries.

The accident happened on the road just below where the Pittsburg Steel Products company has their houses. A bakery wagon was on the road and Barrass coming up endeavored to pass. In doing so the wheels of his machine sank down into the ashes at that point and his truck slid over the bank, turning completely over. Assistance was speedily rendered and the injured man taken to the office of Dr. Collier, where his injuries were dressed and from there he was taken home.

The accident served to call attention to the absolute necessity for the improvement of the roadway along the river from Speers, and it is safe to assume that the citizens of that locality will vote solidly for the bond issue at the election to be held tomorrow.

THIEVES ROB DRUG STORE IN MONESSEN

The Craig drug store in Monessen was robbed last Friday night and the thieves got away with a goodly sum of money. It is believed the thieves were well acquainted with the store, and the police are working on the case in hopes of capturing them.

The Junior Endeavor Society of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church will hold a picnic in the woods on Wednesday. All members are requested to meet in the Sunday school room at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Help keep the county out of the mud by voting in favor of the proposed bond issue. The state will match us dollar for dollar in the building of good roads. Isn't that a good proposition?

OFFICERS ELECTED BY HOME GUARDS

A largely attended meeting of the Home Guards, to which the mothers also had been invited, was held at the Methodist Episcopal church Saturday afternoon last. An election for officers took place, at which time the following were chosen to serve for the ensuing term: President, Margaret Cook; vice president, Fay Goehring; recording secretary, Doris Murray; corresponding secretary, Hazel Welch; treasurer, Jean Duval; pianist, Alvora Chalfant.

A flag day program was also carried out, which consisted of the following exercises: Song by class of girls; history of the flag by Ruth Murphy; song by class of girls; exercise, making the flag; recitation, Ruth Stephens; piano solo, Alvora Chalfant. At the conclusion of the meeting the older girls of the Home Guards served a dainty lunch.

REVENUE MEN MAKE A CLOSE INSPECTION

Revenue men made an unexpected visit to Belle Vernon last week, to see if the revenue laws were being observed. The hotel men of Belle Vernon, it is said, purchased some goods left on the hands of hotel men on the hill who lost out through the adverse decision of the Westmoreland county courts, and J. A. Ogel was one of them. A cask containing five gallons of liquor, as it was measured was found by the revenue men, to contain more than that. Another cask which the proprietor thought was not quite empty, was found to be so and the revenue stamps not cancelled. Two bottles of liquor were found in the bar room, but no one seemed to know anything about where they came from or how they got there. Mr. Vogel went to Pittsburgh and made an explanation but the revenue officials took him to task for being so careless.

Aiken says he has no desire to be a professional soldier and is glad to get back once more into civil life. He will resume his position at the county commissioners' office.

MONESSEN WANTS NO FORTUNE TELLERS

A band of gypsies headed by Maori, Queen of Zealand (so she stated) who had been camping on the old carnival grounds at the east end of the Charleroi-Monessen bridge, one day last week swooped down on Monessen, and taking advantage of an unsuspecting enough official secured a license to conduct a phrenologist seance on Donner avenue.

The tent was placed on Donner avenue, where the queen in all her glory and scant attire, according to a local authority, appealed to the public to have the bumps on their heads read, guaranteeing to tell their past, present and future, on payment of a small sum. Business was booming and two additional queens opened for business in doorways along Donner avenue.

Just about that time Chief of Police Wheatley made his appearance and the ladies of the count were ordered to "beat it." They displayed their license and put up an argument but the Chief was insistent and gave them orders to get out of town, stating that their license fee would be returned if they would appear at the borough building. After receiving this message, the queen decided it was best to "pull stakes" and depart for other fields.

BASS SEASON WILL OPEN JULY FIRST

Unless the legislature changes the State fish code by means of some of the bills now pending in the two houses, the Pennsylvania bass season will open the first of July. Reports reaching the State Department of Fisheries indicate that there will be an abundance of the great game fish and that there will be bass caught in more counties than in years. The pike, perch and pickerel seasons will also open with July and fair reports have been received regarding these fish.

ALL ROAD VEHICLES MUST CARRY LIGHTS

Every vehicle standing or in motion on any public highway after the first of July will have to carry a white light that will be visible both from the front and rear for a distance of 200 feet, through the provisions of the Meakle bill, signed by Governor Sprout on Saturday last. For twenty years efforts have been made to have universal light bill passed by the legislature and the rapidly increasing use of the automobile has brought about the enactment of this legislation, which has formerly been opposed by the rural members of the legislature. The bill provides for fines of ten dollars for the first offense and five dollars for the second, and allows all police officers and state police to arrest offenders on sight. Agricultural machinery, loaded hay wagons and vehicles propelled by hand are alone exempt.

Wm. Schmalbach, of Washington avenue, who served two years in the Marines, has received his discharge at the Norfolk barracks.

AN INTOLERABLE THING

If there is a man in the United States more unhappy than William Kifer of West Chester, Pa., he must be the unhappiest man in the world. For Kifer has doubtless bitterly repented a thousand times that he did not grapple with a revolver-leveling brute, even though in so doing he had come to his death. On a fine evening recently William Kifer, aged 22, called for his friend, Miss Reba Davis, aged 19, and together they walked to the outskirts of their town. There, with merry chat, they sat contentedly on a bank, little dreaming that the blackest of tragedies was at hand. Suddenly they were confronted with a pistol-flourishing negro—a not uncommon spectacle according to report, in that section of Pennsylvania. The armed negro drove the young man and girl across a field into a grove and there robbed the one of his money and the other of her jewels. Then he ordered the young white man to take himself off, threatening to shoot. Instead of grappling with the brute at all risks, Kifer meekly obeyed. Later the wretched young white man returned to the scene with a policeman's party, but the negro was gone after having had his will, and the girl was found in a pitiable condition. We deplore and cry out against the barbarism of lynchings, particularly when we are far from the scene, but in that part of the country where about nine million negroes are congested, too many of the young males brutally inclined, it is the swift, sudden and sure death provided by lynchings that, more than anything else, reduces to a minimum the number of such unspeakable outrages as this latest one reported from West Chester, Pa.

PROSPERITY AND PRICES

There is plenty of prosperity ahead if the experts know what they are talking about, and they usually do. Even conservative financiers and business leaders declare that a period of renewed prosperity is assured. According to Mr. Gary, the leading steel producer, who is regarded as a cautious man, after all our war experiences "it is wonderful that conditions are so good; there is a large and fairly profitable business ahead." Mr. Vanderbilt, a leading New York banker, returns from Europe with "visions" of "America's future role." We read of bank clearings amounting to $7,826,000,000, the largest weekly total ever recorded. Recent exports have also surpassed all records. There are excellent reports of various industries, the boom in hides and shoes for example, is said to be unprecedented. Textile towns are humming with activity. Bountiful crops are confidently expected.

The outlook appears to be all that could be wished. There will be no lack of prosperity, as that term is generally understood. The only continuing difficulty is that it is a prosperity of producers and thus one-sided from the point of view of the large class whose incomes have remained more or less stationary while prices have soared. And Otto Kahn another leading financier says we can not expect a much lower price level "for a long time." This is what troubles consumers, although they know that they receive indirect benefit from the prosperity of producers. Prosperity is sure, but so are prices apparently.

THE KNOX RESOLUTION

The New York Sun in speaking of the resolution introduced by Senator Knox in the United States Senate with reference to the position the United States should take with reference to the league of nations, says: "Senator Knox's resolution is practically the same declaration of a wise man, sane, safe and patriotic American policy regarding the conclusion of peace which he proposed six months ago in the resolution smothered by the friends of the administration when political conditions were different in the Senate. When Senator Knox, half a year ago, presented his plan for the separation of the business of treaty making from the business of world reorganization by means of a league of nations and put the two affairs in their proper chronological sequence, we hailed the resolution as presenting a sane, conservative, wisely progressive, entirely modernized policy, which alone can make the United States safe for democracy in the years to come.

We hail the reappearance of the same plan in its present form.

If that declaration could have passed the Senate on the day when President Wilson first took ship for Europe our republic would have been spared the sorry spectacle which his floundering in the quagmire of opinionated idealism have presented for the past six months; the costly delay, the unblushing abandonment of self-proclaimed principles."

There will be a social for the benefit of the Curtin Union Sunday school near the home of John Jacobs on Thursday evening June 10.

Annapolis Very English.

Annapolis, Maryland's quiet, colorful little capital, has a flavor amazingly English, writes Harrison Rhodes in Harper's Magazine, accompanying his comment with a suggestion that the town would be a suitable site for some friendly small celebration of the renewed Anglo-American tie welded in the fire of war. The names of Annapolis streets as well as the architecture, lack of excitement, and manner of many of the people intensifies the old country atmosphere of the town. The names are intimately reminiscent of the English queen for whom the town was named. Prince George street is for her husband, and Duke of Gloucester for her little son, the only one of her 17 children who survived infancy. He died when eleven years old. Other streets, King George, Fleet street, Conduit, Hanover, Cornhill and Shipwright street, all smack of London.

Care of an Umbrella.

Do not open an umbrella to dry it, nor stand it on its ferrule. Either method is destructive to the useful article, the former because the ribs will become warped by being bent by the silk, so that neat, tight rolling will be impossible in a short time, and the second because the water resting about the top will rot the covering. Turn the umbrella, closed, but not rolled, with the handle downward, then when the silk is perfectly dry rub it with a woollen cloth or old silk handkerchief to restore the gloss. Do not keep the case drawn over the umbrella when the latter is not in use, as it will wear the covering at the seams. Properly cared for and if of good quality the silk covering of an umbrella should wear for at least two years, when umbrella is in constant use.

Below Zero at Equator.

It is colder at the equator than at the north pole, according to a professor, who claims he has proved this strange statement by means of balloon ascensions. It is warmer at the North pole, if you go high enough, he says. Balloons with recording instruments attached were sent up to altitudes of 10 to 12 miles. In the tropics the temperature at this height was 148 degrees below zero, while in middle Europe and farther north at the same height, the instruments only recorded 56 to 85 degrees below zero. Another curious fact noted was that the temperature diminishes as the height increases. The balloon ascensions are said to have shown that the coldest temperature is reached at heights of six to seven miles.

WARWICK MALE QUARTETTE

It is doubtful if any combination of music so nearly meets with popular approval as a male chorus of well-blended voices. In synchronized songs, popular ballads, or divine sacred harmonies the appeal of such music is irresistible. Churches offering competent male quartettes experience no difficulty in filling their pews, while no popular musical festival is complete without it.

In the Warwick quartette the National Lincoln Chorus offers to its patrons a highly competent group of young men with voices of rare beauty and volume. This company comes directly from the coast to fill its engagement with the Lincoln.

They will be heard in a versatile program afternoon and evening of the second day.

NEW TELEPHONE RATES

Local Service Rates

The costs of telephone operation have been rising steadily during the past few years. And now, despite the fact that every possible economy has been introduced, a point has been reached where telephone revenue in Pennsylvania are not sufficient to meet expenses and to provide a reasonable return upon the investment. The situation compels an increase in telephone revenues.

The Company prepared and submitted to the United States Telegraph & Telephone Administration a revised schedule of rates for local service in Pennsylvania which, after careful consideration, was approved by the Federal Authorities and will become effective June 16, 1919.

Accordingly, all rates for local exchange service in Pennsylvania (except local messages originating at public telephones) will be increased 20 per cent June 16, 1919.

Toll Service Rates

On January 21, 1919, new schedules of toll and long distance rates were established throughout the country by order of the Postmaster General. The application of these schedules to messages originating and terminating within Pennsylvania was set aside on January 29, 1919, by order of a Pennsylvania Court.

The Supreme Court of the United States on June 2 confirmed the authority of the Postmaster General to regulate all telephone rates. Consequently, the Pennsylvania Court on June 11, 1919 dissolved its injunction of January 29, 1919.

The new rates, therefore, will be applied to all toll and long distance messages from and after May 21, 1919, the beginning of the current toll billing period. All telephone directories issued since January 1 contain the new schedules and an explanation of them. Please consult the front pages of your directory, so that you may be familiar with the various classes of toll service that we offer.
